How Our Tablet Technology Works

What is RiaGev?

RiaGev is a proprietary ingredient formulation that uniquely combines Bioenergy Ribose and Nicotinamide and is clinically proven to enter the salvage pathway directly. The pharmacodynamics of RiaGev demonstrate it to be more efficient than NR at increasing NAD⁺ throughout the body, including muscle and brain, because of the direct pathway. RiaGev was inspired by our desire to develop a product that controls metabolism while enhancing energy. In other words, RiaGev boosts energy while balancing the stress associated with energy production.

During development, we avoided the pitfalls of other products seeking to do something similar by increasing both ATP and NAD simultaneously. With this breakthrough, our goal is to help slow the aging process from the inside out and with RiaGev there is now tremendous untapped potential for helping people live a healthier, longer life.
